DESIGN WITHOUT BORDERS!

Color transitions and True-to-life images available exclusively through Wendell's Mint

Since the advent of painted coins, design options have been limited by one significant restriction - colors needed to be separated by a border (a raised metal dam on the coin face). This border served to keep each unique color in its own separate channel, but also served to greatly limit your design flexibility. In 2015, Wendell's Mint destroyed this paradigm with our introduction of Borderless Painting™.

Using our proprietary Borderless Painting™ process, Wendell's Mint is able to create gradual color transitions and true-to-life images on coins of all sizes and material. A waving American flag, a rainbow reflected through a prism, or a meaningful and personal image, we can produce a coin that captures your design objective.

Whether you are looking for a coin with a traditional design, or are ready to knock down the borders, Wendell's Mint will work with you to design your perfect coin. Contact us today to learn more!
